

Widen Your Worldview

Widen your worldview! Hi there my name is Grace and I am the co-founder, owner and creator of Filipino Virtual Assistance. Today, allow me to encourage you to widen your worldview. Worldview refers to our outlook in life based on the world that we live in and the world that we were exposed to. Like for example if I was born to a family of business and growing up I always have these experiences that problems are just overwhelming and it's an obstacle that I can't do anything about. So when I grow up because of those experiences, because of those exposures, I would look at each opportunity or each challenges as something that I may not be successful in dealing with, why, because that was the experience and that was the worldview that I was exposed to. On the other hand, if I grow up in a family of problem solver and we'll just tackle challenges as opportunities to grow and be empowered as a person, when I grow up, when I am facing challenges I would excitedly have a better outlook on that. Why, because I was exposed to a family, to a world, to a community that those challenges are something that I can deal with and those are challenges that would bring me to better opportunities. So the world that we live in, the world that we were exposed to becomes our worldview in life. This is why when it comes to being a business owner or freelancer we need to expand our worldview.

My worldview did not expand until I was 22, I grew up in a family that pampered me so much as the lady of the home and I did not learn responsibility like cooking, organizing and being tidy and being responsible with my life even with my schedule until I was 22 years old. When I was 22 and I decided to live my life for my goals, I was exposed to a community of Americans. And in there I learned how to communicate properly, how not to be inferior, how to be open about myself and to live a life that's not only for me but for other people as well. That life is all about mission, empowering people, empowering communities, the generation, the nation, it's all about living a life that would impact and live a legacy. So in that situation and that experience, I grow as a person and had better perspective of life. Few months actually after that, I did a school in Germany and in there I also learned to be more responsible with my life. I learned to be on time, I need to work according to what I was expected to do, to do my role, to be responsible. That it's not about my feelings and it's not about me because the world would go on, may it be spring, winter or autumn or whatever season it may be. You have to show up, you have to be responsible, you have to be there, you have to prepare, you have to be on time, you have to live a life that's not just for you but you have to be responsible you know for you and for your community and your responsibilities. In that situation again, I learned to be a better person and to be a better individual because I was exposed to another culture, I was exposed to another worldview.

When I became a freelancer I was about ready because of these experiences and I gave value to my customers, I give quality work and I always thinking that customers should go first, why, because it's not about me and I need to be responsible with the things that I was given to and those experiences that I had you know dealing with the community of Americans and being exposed to Germans, prepared me to the things that I was working as a freelancer and now as a business owner. So today this is why I would like to encourage you to expand your worldview by:

1. Learning new things.
2. Experiencing new things.

Without learning and experiences, you will stay the same and your expectation and perspective and your opinions and your outlook in life, your worldview will stay the same and you can be probably be looking at things the pessimist way or a problem solver or you can you know be given a lot of opportunity but you don't have the right mindset, why, because your worldview is not changed. You have to have a changed mindset in order for you to be successful and it doesn't necessarily mean you have to be dealing with Americans as well or being exposed to the cultures or going to Germany as well but learning and experiencing new things will bring you to that better perspective, that better worldview that will empower you to be a better freelancer, a better business owner and a better person.

That would be all for today, God bless you and more power!
